1. Explain the difference between the internet and the world wide web

2. What does HTTP stand for?

3. In Linux what does the shell command `ls -la` do? Show an example of the output.

4. Write the command you can use to add a user hidir to a Linux system? What else will you need to input when adding a user?
Cmpe 283 Quiz 02
September 29, 2014

Name: .................................................................

Student ID: .............................................................

1. Explain why the internet protocols became more popular than any other network protocol.

2. What does HTML stand for?

3. In Linux what does the shell command touch hidir do?

4. Write out the command you use to start communication with your droplet (or other server)